Increase Should Not Be In Excess of 40 Cents, Says Attorney General.

COULD BE MADE 20 CENTS

By Operators Absorbing 14 Per Cent of Wage Increase Allowed Miners Under Agreement Recently Made; Attorneys to Hear Complaints.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Federal district attorneys were instructed today by Attorney General Palmer to receive and consider complaints of profiteering in bituminous coal which may arise in your district under the new wage act.

Mr. Palmer's telegram was prepared after some bituminous coal operators had stated publicly that the new wage scale agreed on under the terms of the award by the coal strike settlement commission would result in an increase of from 10 cents to $1.25 a ton on coal.

Pointing out that the total increase in wages had been estimated at approximately $30,000,000 a year Mr. Palmer said that if the entire amount were added by the operators to the price it would only be an increase of 40 cents a ton.

If, however, the operators absorb the 14 per cent increase which became effective in December, said the attorney general, there will be left only $96,000,000 to be passed on to the consumer. In this event, the increase in the price of coal at the mine should amount to 20 cents a ton.

AMERICANIZATION EXPERT TO BE IN REGION FOR TIME

Rev. David Cleland, Elizabeth, Due to Arrive This Afternoon for Conference With Workers.

Rev. David M. Cleland of Elizabeth who is engaged in Americanization work, was expected to arrive in Connellsville this afternoon for a conference with local men relative to extension of activity in the section 'Americanization Schools in Mill and Mine,' is the slogan of the organization of which Rev. Cleland is a part.

Of the work in hand he says: "It is well known that much of the disturbance and social unrest of the past summer was due to vicious propaganda at mill and mine among the foreign population, especially who failed to see conditions in many cases from the true standpoint."

This condition is continuing in many centers.

Some years ago the plan of employing college students to devote their summer vacations in foreign settlements was tried and proved very successful. The following is an outline of the plan proposed.

"As many hours as possible each day for the study of English in adult classes."

Correct American ideals and principles on which American liberty is founded.

The leading facts of American history.

Counter propaganda where necessary in every matter that concerns the foreigner in his social or industrial life in America.

Rev. Cleland planned to meet Rev. Francis J. Scott of the United Presbyterian church, an old friend this afternoon.

OF BAPTIST DRIVE
IN TWO COUNTIES

Pastor of Connellsville Church Assigned to Fayette-Somerset.

DID A GREAT WORK HERE

Rev. J. Earl Edwards of Connellsville has just been named to head the Northern Baptist New World drive in Somerset and Fayette counties for which the department is seeking to raise $100,000,000. A similar campaign between April 25 and May 1 he is organizing local churches and the same as communities are organized during the war work drive.

Among the aims of the New World Movement of Northern Baptists which will be furthered by the fund drive is the United States expansion of religious and educational institutions supported by the denomination. Increased salaries and pensions of ministers and missionaries and an enlarged foreign mission work.

More than three-quarters of the fund of $100,000,000 will be spent in this country during the next five years. Of this amount $10,000,000 has been set aside for the development of Baptist schools and colleges. Of the $24,000,000 allotted to the foreign mission fund a large part will be expended in providing adequate hospitals, schools and institutions for the natives in the Far East and Africa.

Success of the New Baptist campaign in Connellsville has been secured when over $7,000 was subscribed for a four year program as compared with a goal set of $50,000 has caused demand for the leaders as speakers in other places where the campaign is to be put on. Rev. Edwards has been asked to speak in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and will not be done here last night. W. H. Kiser was a director of the drive and R. B. Boyer one of the team captains.

ACCIDENTS GREAT FACTOR IN HIGH COST OF LIVING

Convincing Figures Presented By Supl. Boyd, Trotter, to Employes.

RUN INTO MANY MILLIONS

Workers of Steel Corporation Subsidize More Fortunate Than Average in Matter of Prices of Their Necessities, How to Pare Down the Total.

Accidents are a considerable factor in the high cost of living, superintendent Benson Boyd of the Illinois and Michigan canal company, recently demonstrated in an address at a safety rally this week at the latter plant. The address of Mr. Boyd follows:

A very important subject one which we hear on every side is the cost of the high cost of living. It is a phase of it that is overlooked not only by us as men, but men who do not think of it as a man and I think I can show that it is called to our attention.

There is one thing I wish to say to you tonight. That is we are more fortunate than many of the men who are suffering from the increase of the cost of living. Cost of fuel has not increased, nor has cost of rent. Too many of us believe we are getting better treatment in the prices we pay for most working men and I think I can show that it is called to our attention.

The phase of the cost of living we want to call to your attention tonight is the high cost of accidents. I fear it is the highest cost of accidents.

During the war our loss in life was something like 140,000 and we thought it appalling. How we began to think with fear that we might find the names of some loved ones in the list of the dead. The war has cost us 140,000 lives. The war has cost us 140,000 lives. The war has cost us 140,000 lives.

The record of the loss of life in the war from January 1, 1914 to August 1, 1918 there were found to have been in industry alone 10,000 fatalities and 71,000 minor and serious accidents. Have we ever stopped to think what this means to us in dollars and cents?

It is to this I want to call your attention and know that when we fully realize the cost it will mean that not only will we be more careful of ourselves but we will be watchful of others and we will call attention to them, and if it is possible for us to do so, in doing so we will only protect ourselves.

The compensation paid for the above accidents was for the 10,000 fatalities, $125,000,000. For the 71,000 others $2,271,000, a total of $127,271,000. It will be necessary to pay out to carry the compensation to completion at least $2,000,000 making a total of $129,271,000.

The medical and surgical costs, nurses, hospitals, ambulance calls, will add another $2,000,000 bringing the total to $131,271,000.

It is hard to estimate the worth of a man but from actuarial figures we can get an estimate and we will keep it in mind. Many of you here are good for 20 years or more of work and I know you can earn a good living and keep a thousand dollars a year but let's say $50,000 a year and make a grand total of $50,000,000.

Now if these prices had been in effect for 20 years, the total would be $1,000,000,000. It would be necessary to pay out to carry the compensation to completion at least $2,000,000 making a total of $1,002,271,000.

If cost money to carry a man and his family cost more than means must be paid to his family. We must get something for the laborer. Remember that this is a home for the worker and the employer.

The worker and the employer are both in the same boat. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt.

The worker and the employer are both in the same boat. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt.

The worker and the employer are both in the same boat. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt. The worker is the one who is most likely to be hurt.

FURNACE COKE RISES RAPIDLY WITH LIFTING OF THE PRICE BAN

Prompt April and Second Quarter Ranges From $10 to $12 at Present.

LATTER MAY BE MINIMUM

May Go Even Higher Before the Reaction Sets In: Considerable Current Tonnage Now Released, Giving Buyers Opportunity to Come in Market.

Special to The Weekly Courier—PITTSBURG, March 31.—The coke market opened with considerable vigor late last week at prices far above the government limits and has since been advancing rather sharply. While the government control does not end technically until midnight tonight, the practically universal interpretation of the situation by the trade has been that there was no barrier to the making of purchases and sales since the shipping and invoicing would occur after March 31. The chief activity as a matter of fact has been for April deliveries.

It appears that the first sale of Connellsville furnace coke when the market opened was at $9.00 the price rising almost at once to $10 which was the minimum on Saturday. This week there was $11 furnace coke but none at $10. The coke sales both Monday and Tuesday at $11 but it is not certain that any $11 coke could be had today and reports had it even yesterday that there were bids of $11.50. Predictions are already made that the market will be at $12 minimum for furnace coke within a day or two. These predictions may easily be verified and even higher than $12 may of course be done but, naturally, coke cannot advance a dollar a day for an indefinite period a reaction being inevitable unless the market stops at a level where it can stick.

For many weeks past there has been scarcely any prompt furnace coke available in the market, car supplies being so small that practically all the coke that could be shipped had to go out to regular customers. Some of this was on regular contracts and some on general understandings that shipments would be made at a certain rate if attainable during the period of control and be billed at the control limit. Apart from such cases there were a few of contracts having been made definitely for the first quarter. These with government price control and the quarter year ending at the same time a very considerable tonnage of the current production of coke has been released and can be offered in the market. It is probable that some operators are banking on being able to move portions of their stock piles as car supplies gradually improve. At the same time that any tonnage of current production is released for sale a consumer becomes correspondingly uncovered while there are also buyers among the ranks of consumers who have not been fully supplied of late and who now have the opportunity if they desire to embrace it of going to the market and bidding for coke.

The major portion of the furnace coke business that has been done has been for delivery over the month of April. This was chiefly among buyers and sellers who had been committed for the first quarter and instead of making transactions for the second quarter both parties have usually preferred to make deals for the one month only affording opportunity for more careful study of conditions before they should make commitments for May and June.

A few second quarter contracts, however, have been made. There has been no particular difference between prices done for April and for the quarter when the transactions were made at about the same time. The prompt April and second quarter markets have presented an almost equal front advancing as stated above from $9 at the opening to $11 to $12 at the present time.

Early in the movement one furnace coke contract about 5,000 tons at month was made for the balance of the year there being a flat price for the nine months of $9.00.

Foundry coke business has been chiefly in small prompt lots, the coke being scarcely any contract business done. There had been few if any first quarter contracts to expire but there had been many consumers unable to obtain full supplies and those of the consumers who could afford to pay high prices have been bidding the market up. While the advance in price of furnace coke does not increase the amount available since that is dependant upon car supply the advance in foundry coke does tend to increase the supply when it increases the spread of foundry coke over furnace as there is greater incentive to operators to produce foundry grade instead of furnace.

At the opening of the market last week a few sales of prompt foundry coke were made at $10 furnace coke at the same time selling at $9.00 but the spread soon began to increase and Monday of this week when furnace coke was selling at $11 foundry coke was bringing $13 showing a $2 spread and "ought" speaking this has been the spread this week. The spread seems natural enough being approximately the same in percentage as when prices were $6.00 for furnace coke and $7.00 for foundry.

Yesterday and today foundry coke has brought $13 as minimum and a few sales are reported at $14. The top price reported however is $15. It being well authenticated that one car load of foundry coke of merely standard grade brought that figure. The market as a whole is thus quoted as follows:

Furnace $11.00 @ $12.00

Foundry $13.00 @ $15.00

The Pittsburgh district coal market has found a level for prompt lots at $4.00 to $5.00 and quite a number of small lot sales have been put through. The steel interests have been the principal buyers as they were the most needy and are in the best position to pay fancy prices the cost of a little additional coal being a small item to be considered when the production of steel is thereby increased.

There are reports of some coal contracts being put through for the remainder of the calendar year or for the coal year to April 1, 1920 but in general the contract market is not very well defined. It is said that leading operators desire to hold the contract market from going above about $3.50 the assumption being that higher prices might be obtainable.

The pig iron market continues extremely quiet with few sales and those only of small tonnage for car shipment while sales for extended delivery do not seem to be made at all. General speaking prices are unchanged and that is what would be expected in a dull market as there is nothing to put prices up and there is no particular incentive to producers to shade prices when no important tonnage could be sold thereby. Odd lot offerings are heavier this week than last chiefly by middle interests or those who do not usually have iron for sale. The market remains quoted as follows:

Bessemer $42.00

Basic $41.00

Foundry $40.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces freight to Pittsburgh being $3.00.

ALL WENT INTO THE BILL

Moroccan Ruler Found in the End That He Paid for His Hours of Bridge

How the sultan of Morocco Mulai Hafid played bridge with his dentist has been amusingly told.

A close friendship sprang up between the sultan and an English dentist, and as often as not bridge took the place of dentistry. The dentist would arrive with his timid lady assistant and all his implements of torture only to be invited to sit down at the table and play cards. The lady assistant was very young and very shy and was more accustomed to play children's card games than bridge. A fourth player would be found and the ill-assorted party completed. The ex-sultan enjoyed himself immensely. He generally won perhaps by never permitting the trembling lady assistant to be his partner. The points were one franc a hundred so no very serious damage could be done but rich as the sultan was he rejoiced more in his humble winnings at bridge than over his many thousands in the banks. Not a little of his enjoyment was owing to the fact that he felt that he was doing the dentist. He comes the ex-sultan would say to mend my teeth and to take my gold and in the end I win his trances. But one day the climax came. The teeth were excellently repaired—the work was of the best—there was no more to be done but to pay the bill—and the bill very naturally and rightly included all the bridge hours at so much per hour. It was the most expensive bridge Mulai Hafid ever played.

SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1926

CONGRATULATIONS TO SHERIFF SHAW; ENCOURAGEMENT TO CITIZENS.

While Connelville citizens generally are glad to know that Sheriff Shaw and County Detective Smith had the courage to come here and make raids upon a number of houses of doubtful reputation and transport the inmates to the county jail in the face of most strenuous protests on the part of some of them to making the journey there can be no feeling of pride in the knowledge that the much needed cleaning up had to be done by out-of-town officers. In fact it is nothing short of humiliating to all good citizens to know that conditions which required the visit of Sheriff Shaw and his deputies have been permitted to exist.

That the peace officers of the city did not know of the existence of such places seems incredible. If they have such knowledge they have been in excusable remiss in their duties. True, certain raids have been made and the city treasury enriched as a result but there has been no appreciable abatement in the evils which have been fomented with constantly increasing boldness. The city police force is not equal in strength to that Sheriff Shaw employed on his raid which should have been even larger in order that every reputed disorderly house in the city could have been raided in one night, but the city officers are upon the ground continually hence have the opportunity to act at the very first intimation of wrong doing in every section of the city. That this has not been done, and the continued presence of certain well-known characters is permitted indicates lack of a systematic effort and a determination to clean up the city. It even leads to suspicion and surmise as to the reasons why aggressive action has not been taken and persistently followed up with a view to making the city free of the pests to its young men which were so vividly pointed out by a United States Health Department representative during a recent conference with the city council.

Since Sheriff Shaw upon information received, has acted to at least partially remedy the conditions the people of the city will derive some comfort from knowing with whom to lodge complaints and judging from the vigorous manner in which the chief county peace officer has taken hold of the situation, they have reason to hope that something real will be done in the direction of removing some of the reproach the city has been obliged to suffer.

In these respects Sheriff Shaw is to be congratulated and those citizens who are interested in the moral welfare of the community are to be encouraged in their efforts to assist the sheriff in his determination to do what local officers are either unable or unwilling to do.

THE COAL AND COKE SITUATION NOT WITHOUT DANGERS.

Although the war-time regulation of prices and the power of conservation of shipments have been removed from coal and coke and operators have much occasion for joy thereat, the mistake should not be made of believing that no dangers confront these industries. The coal and coke situation is a delicate one and some without the trade.

Of the latter it must be borne in mind that there is no insurance of permanency of the liberty the trade began to enjoy on April 1. In the order removing price control President Wilson very plainly indicated that he stands ready to rescind it if in his opinion the need to do so should arise. This notice should remind coal and coke producers that so long as the Lever act remains a law it will be held over them as a club. Furthermore there remain in effect the regulations of the Fuel Administration which require contracts for coal and coke to stipulate that the agreements are subject to federal price control and regulation by the United States Fuel Administration and to cancellation and termination by the President or the Fuel Administration at any time.

Of the dangers within the trade the very solemn duty devolves upon the producers of coal and coke to keep constantly in mind the fact that the removal of fixed price limits does not mean liberty to go to the limit in making price demands.

"Prices must be kept at their proper level," says the Black Diamond. "The producer and the distributor are entitled to a living price. They should take it, but it is up to no man else. If some one is guilty of profiteering they should see that the guilty one is brought to a speedy justice." The and the security of the industry depend on it.

"Even with the repeal of the Lever Act, there still exists the Anti-Profiteering law. This enactment is drastic. It provides severe penalties. Nine-tenths of the coal industry will have no fear of this law because it will commit no acts to merit its application. The other ten per cent will want to ignore it—a certain small percentage of this number probably will. It is this class the coal industry must be watchful of. One bad apple will spoil a barrel, so it is said. So will a few grasping greedy coal men bring discredit upon the entire industry."

The Lever Act, as a war measure, has served its purpose. This hand cap should no longer be permitted to add to the burden the coal and coke industries have borne to the exclusion of all others. The fuel producers have paid their debt to patriotism with interest. They are entitled to the conditional relief which has been heaping itself upon them and still more entitled to complete and permanent relief which would follow the repeal of the Lever Act. At the same time they have within their own power to do many things that will tend to the promotion of stability in the industry, prevent profiteering and help to clear the way for the disaster that would be visited by inexperience and indiscreet boosting of prices.

CO-OPERATION OF THE COURIER AND CHURCHES

The Courier has always esteemed it both a duty and a pleasure to lend its influence and support to the furtherance of every worthy and deserving object for the advancement of the best interests of Connelville and the territory it serves. In no efforts has it had a more interested concern than in those activities which are intended to enlarge and strengthen the influence and power of the churches. Accordingly it has been a pleasure for The Courier to assist the congregation of the First Baptist church in carrying the initial financial campaign of the Interchurch New World Movement to success just as it is ready at all times to render similar service in cooperation with every other church in the city without distinction as to denominational beliefs and practices.

It is therefore with a deep sense of appreciation that receipt is acknowledged of the following letter of thanks from the First Baptist church as conveyed through its pastor Rev. J. Earle Edwards:

My dear Mr. Gans—

As the First Baptist church sat around the communion table Friday evening, Good Friday in gratitude for all the Lord had done for us, and we thank for other things, our minds naturally turned towards you and your paper. The church thereupon officially instructed me to write you a letter and express our appreciation of the splendid service you rendered us in our recent successful $75,000.00 New World Movement campaign. Your columns were read by thousands of our Baptist constituents through the city and county and did more to boost the campaign than any other one thing. Especially do we appreciate the valued space you so kindly gave us in the editorial of March 20.

Our aim as a church is to make a New World, and that New World must begin at home. The newspaper and school and churches have much to do with it. We shall appreciate at any time your criticism of our teaching and methods with the idea of rendering real service to the community in which we work. We want to be a factor in making the life of the people more happy and more vital. In cooperation with the other churches of the city and in conjunction with the newspapers there is no reason why the community should not profit more and more from the service we are able to render.

Wherever we may serve you count on us. If at any time we should feel that your columns need overhauling depend upon it we shall feel free to make the suggestion. We are glad to know in advance that you will hear us.

Extend our heartfelt greetings to your three workers on behalf of the First Baptist church.

In earnest for a New World
 J. EARLE EDWARDS

What the Red Flag Means

From The Fire Insurance Americanization Movement.

A few definitions are in order. One of them concerns the red flag which has been so widely displayed in connection with revolutionary propaganda and which is acclaimed by its followers as the symbol of liberty. Since we already have in this country a flag of red, white and blue which we have associated with that term, it is not appropriate to acquire what is interpreted as liberty. The red flag, however, has a meaning and clearly it is something different from our own or they would not need another flag to express it. In a matter as in most other matters, let us speak louder than words. Red action, have spoken most loudly in Russia and it is there that we can get our best idea of the red purpose toward liberty.

One Russian fact stands out prominently—the red purpose toward liberty does not include the liberty of the bourgeoisie and this brings us to our second definition.

Who constitutes the bourgeoisie? In plain language they are the productive class of the nation. Any man or woman who has a farm, a shop, a store or a factory, large or small, or who gives employment to a single other person, is bourgeoisie. America is largely bourgeoisie and every working man will become a member of the bourgeoisie if he prospers. In other words there are no hard and fast classes but a constant change and progression. For the proletariat to advocate the destruction of the bourgeoisie is for the present to attempt the destruction of the future.

The doctrine of class distinction and class consciousness is anti-American and is menacing to the fundamental principles of our nation. It is perhaps the most primary difference between bolshevism and Americanism. It is the fruit of Russian tyranny and has no place in free America.

Popular Leader of Peacetime Army

MISS EVANGELINE C. BOOTH,
 Commander of the Salvation Army in the United States.

WITH the $14,000,000 fund generously contributed by the country to the Salvation Army last May all but exhausted through the Army's unparalleled year of activities and service throughout the country, Commander Miss Booth is now marshaling her forces for the organization's second nation-wide Home Service Appeal to be held May 10 to 20. It makes me extremely happy to report, even before the full statistics of the year's work are in hand, the Commander stated in New York recently that the organization in this country has the Salvation Army been able to accomplish so much for the poor, the distressed, the sick, the unfortunate and the erring.

"All this is because of the magnificent way America has supported our efforts. We are deeply thankful to God and country for the opportunities of Christian and humanitarian service that have been afforded us during the last few months. Very shortly now we shall give an accounting of our trustworthiness and soon thereafter we plan to go to the country again for the encouragement and funds with which to maintain our many vital activities throughout another twelvemonth."

Reproduces All Tonal Beauties

STILL the very latest and most advanced in phonographs is the Brunswick. This remarkable instrument has attracted nationwide attention. Chiefly because of the Brunswick Method of Reproduction. This new development brings finer tone for every record, whatever make. No other instrument has these advanced ideas.

Now Brunswick Records

We bring now as a further contribution to the phonographic art our own make of records. We include all the fine standards of today, yet add what we consider a vast improvement. And this we know will be the verdict of the public.

This is the secret—each Brunswick Record is interpreted by a noted director or an accomplished artist technically trained in the art of recording. Thus we unite the talent of the artist with the genius of the composer.

Brunswick

We feel sure that you will recognize the betterment brought out by this idea. We want you to judge Brunswick Records by those same severe tests with which people have judged Brunswick Phonographs. And that is by comparison.

Remember—Brunswick Records will play on any phonograph with steel or fibre needle.

and it left me with a terrible cough.
The doctor gave me one bottle of medicine, but another, but it did me no good. Went to Charlotte, N. C. and was treated by a specialist without any permanent benefit.

"My wife, Mrs. Emulsion, advertised

After 12 bottles have straightened me out entirely. I eat, anything, without stomach trouble, my cough is gone and I have gained back my strength and flesh."

"Mrs. Emulsion is a pleasant nutrithe very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. It fortifies the system against colds, and thus prevents pneumonia.

This is because Vinol Contains Iron ing elements of Cod Liver Oil, taken from fresh cods' livers—but no oil.

Vinol is not a patent medicine. Every-the blood and invigorates the entire body.

WOOSTER, OHIO

the management of two large ceptible to coughs and colds, which so often develop pneu-

REVIEW OF WORK FLATTERING TO C. H. S. BASKETBALL TEAM

Wins 18 Games Out of 29
Played; 977 Points Opponents, 857.

STRENUOUS LEADER OF C. H. S. BASKETEERS

A week ago tonight the local high school closed the most successful basketball season ever attained, with a crushing defeat to the West Newton high quintet as a fitting climax. The season has been a very remarkable one for C. H. S. No team in Western Pennsylvania has shown the steady advancement as the local teachers at the close of the 1919-20 schedule. When the basketball candidates were called out in December about 60 young men reported. Most of them were new to the game and all lacked experience. The "star players" of the preceding year, such as McConnell, Struble, Lyon and Moore, with such second string men as Robinson, Benner and others, having graduated, the outlook was very doubtful. The wealth of material discovered in this season's players was an agreeable surprise, both to the coaches and those entrusted in school athletics. It provided not only a strong team for the season just closed, but wonderful material for the next three years.

Before the untutored players could develop their ability the season was upon them. Unfortunately, their first games played in the W. P. I. A. L. were away from home, which was a handicap to a new team. Combining with this, sickness and injury to Captain Bufano and Danner had a serious effect on the team's showing at the very beginning of the season and prevented it from being ranked as one of the leaders of this section of the league. When the season was well under way, Hume entered the local seat of learning and from then on the team developed in leaps and bounds, ending in a blaze of glory.

The season's schedule consisted of 29 games, of which 18 were won and 11 lost. C. H. S. scored 977 points to its opponents' 857. Among the teams it met and defeated were the strongest in this section of the state. The defensive work of the team was the most brilliant feature of its playing, the heavy part falling to Danner and Francis. Danner has been chosen all-star for this section of the league. For a big youngster he is extremely fast, and an excellent shot under and around the basket. His great success has been achieved by the wonderful spring he has developed, which enables him to get up in the air, capture the ball as it is dropping of the backboard from an unsuccessful shot by his opponents and starting it up the floor to his own basket. This is Danner's last season. Francis, Danner's running mate at guard, has become an artist in taking a dribbled ball away from an opposing player. He plays a clean, hard game, using his "gray matter" to a great extent as well as his athletic ability. If he had been in good physical condition there is no telling how far his fame would have been carried. "Pep" has one more year at school.

The offensive work of the team was taken care of by Bufano and Hume. At times the offense showed flashes of form that made it a wonder. At other times it was miserably poor. Captain Bufano proved to be a good leader, being an extremely hard worker, and without a doubt, the fastest man on the team. It was always "Butt" who pulled the sensational by caging several goals from center. His dribbling was scientific, used only to advance the ball to the basket, thereby making hard shots look easy. He graduated this year.

The center position was the weak spot of the whole team. All the boys who played that position were so small that in no game was the ball off over on the side of the locals. Niel, the young freshman, was about the class among the centers, and in the Elizabeth game he proved to be the star. He still has a lot to learn but with a little more experience and "some signs of life" in his makeup, he should develop into a first class class player.

Playing opposite Bufano was Hume. He joined the team in mid-season but soon worked himself into the team's play and showed up like a veteran. He was picked for forward in the all-league of this and other sections of the league, justly deserving the honors. Besides getting his share of field goals he was a wizard from the 15-foot line, striking terror into the hearts of the opposing players by the regularity of his foul shots. It is doubtful if his record in shooting fouls in the Elizabeth game was beaten, he caging 21 out of 24 free throws. He remains at school for next year.

No varsity team can be successful unless it has stiff opposition in practice. Much credit for the success of the season was due to Menefee, Jones, Melnick and Driscoll, who made the varsity team work so hard in practice that it became a habit. These boys were also able to step into the lineup of the first team at a moment's notice and carry on the work just as successfully as the regulars. Of these boys Driscoll is the only one who will return next year and by hard practice should make the team the coming season.

Robert ("Butt") Bufano
One of the star athletes of Connellsville-high school, captain of the basketball team, season 1919-20, whose leadership was the mainstay to the most successful basketball season ever had at C. H. S. Last year's quarter-back on the football team. He will make his last appearance under the colors of C. H. S. at the W. P. I. A. L. track and field meet on May 29 at Pittsburgh. He will graduate this year and, shortly will enter the University of Pittsburgh where, no doubt, he will continue to be a factor in athletics.

FRISCH LOOKED UPON AS A SPEED WONDER

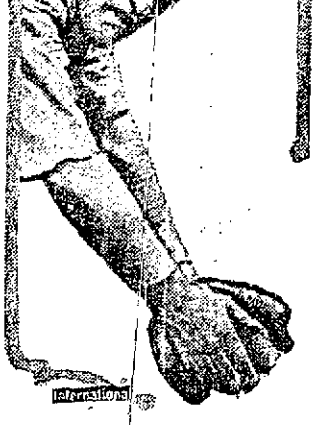

Expected to Take Laurels From Max Carey of Pirates.

Admirers of Fordham College Youth Say He Is Going to Be Fastest Man in National League in 1920
—Robert Hols. Record.

Who is the fastest man in the National league? Had that question been asked at the opening of the 1919 season the vote would have been unanimously for Max Carey of the Pirates, but now Carey's title is being questioned. Admirers of Frank Frisch, the Fordham college youth, who broke in with the New York Giants in 1918, say he is going to prove in 1920 that he has it on Carey in footwork. He made a record in college as a sprinter.

Until Max Carey sprang into prominence the fastest man in the National league was Hans Lohr. To this day Lohr holds a couple of National league records for speed. In a field day competition at Cincinnati on October 12, 1912, Lohr circled the bases in 13.4 seconds. On the same date Lohr tied for first place in a 100-yard dash. His rival was Vincent Campbell, then of the Pirates.

Campbell was another fast man who probably would be in the big leagues today if he cared for baseball. He was a big fellow who could hit, run and field. He was a "live wire" with the Pirates, and took the hop to the Federal league. He went good with the Indianapolis club, and also with the Newark Reds. When peace came he decided to retire from the diamond for the automobile business. All efforts to have him reconsider were unavailing.

STRONG TEAM FOR SYRACUSE

Coach Tom Keene to Organize Four-Mile Squad to Compete for Penn Relay Races.

Coach Tom Keene of Syracuse university, whose cross-country squad won the eastern intercollegiate race, will organize a four-mile team for the Penn relay races May 1 next. John Simmons, who finished first in the Junior and intercollegiate runs, has been elected captain of the 1920 harriers.

Former service men are to have prior rights of entry to Wyoming government land under the homestead act. Another advantage is that they won't have Jack Dempsey for a neighbor.

FIGHT FANS WANTED MURDER

Winner of Bout at Fargo, N. D., Compelled to Knock Out His Antagonist Twice.

Many old-time fighters are worried lest the mitt game degenerate into a pink tea and chiffon proposition. However, a battle was pulled off in Fargo, N. D., not long ago, that would have satisfied the most bloodthirsty. A fight had been staged between Labe Saffro, a clever welterweight of Minneapolis, and an unnamed fighter of more or less ability.

It took Saffro one round to feel out his opponent and in the second stanza he waded in and in a short time had the Unknown at his mercy and cleanly knocked him out in the second.

Fargo fight fans want their money's worth and howled for more. They wanted more than a knock out; they were anxious for murder. It didn't particularly matter to them which fighter was killed, they wanted action.

To satisfy the crowd the management induced the fighters to go back in the ring. In fact Saffro was told he must continue the fight or there would be no money forthcoming. Saffro was furious to think that there was a chance of being beaten out of his end of the purse and after the fighters had been given a few minutes rest, they reentered the ring.

Saffro was master at all times and after fiddling around for a few seconds sent over a punch that carried with it full strength of his powerful shoulders and sent the Unknown clear through the ropes and into the struggling and howling spectators. He was so far done for, that there was no chance for further fighting. The fans were satisfied.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arceine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished.

It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffling, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arceine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, apply the throat twice daily and sniff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it up once with this same medicine.

VAUDEVILLE AT SOISSON

Jean Belasco Players Returning Next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Announcement was made today by Manager C. A. Wagner that Jean Belasco's vaudeville players, who made themselves so popular a few weeks ago, will be at the Soisson Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, matinee and night. There will be five all-star acts.

There will be vaudeville every other week, two nights each week.

What is said to be the best vaudeville show that has ever been gotten together in this vicinity will be seen at the Soisson on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 6 and 7, when another of the famous Belasco Vaudeville Road Shows will be presented. In addition to the big First National picture, "The Virtuous Vamp," with Constance Talmadge in the leading role, the five vaudeville acts come direct to Connelville from the big time circuits and the show is said to have even better than the first Jean Belasco show that was seen here recently. Each set has been picked for its strength as variety entertainers and the combination of the five acts makes a program that can not be equaled. The feature picture itself is an entire show and the combination of the two shows together makes an entertainment that will long be remembered by local theatregoers. A daily matinee will be given and two complete shows will be seen at night. Popular prices will prevail.

THE SOISSON.

"A MODERN SALOME."—Featuring Hope Hampton, the lady beautiful of the screen, is being shown today. This is a magnificent production, carefully conceived and staged with a wealth of scenic background and environment and expensive costuming. Miss Hampton alone wears a fortune in gowns of the latest modes and displays a gorgeous collection of jewels. This story, narrated in the Scriptures, inspired the dramatic poem of "Salome" by Oscar Wilde and the opera by Richard Strauss. Recollections of the way this famous dance has been performed by various artists is woven into the plot of the picture through a hallucination suffered by the heroine, in which she imagines herself to be, the famous Salome of old. It is in this incident that she performs the Dance of Enticement.

THE SOISSON.

"LISTEN, LESTER."—John Cort's musical comedy will be the attraction Monday night. From the moment the curtain rises upon this play all notes of time cease and the delightful whirl and attractive happenings exposed. It has, all to do with a "certain live wire" called Arbutus Quillity, and the efforts of a Colonel Dodge to enthrone him from the clutches of the aforementioned lady, with several love affairs thrown in for good measure and comedy and beauty galore. There is dancing and singing and entertaining story, laugh-splitting specialties, exquisite scenery and the original cast.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"ROGUE AND RICHES"—Starling beautiful Mary MacLaren, is being shown today.

DAWSON OPERA HOUSE.

"DESTINY, OR THE SOUL OF A ROMAN"—A five-act drama in which Emmy Whelen, the beautiful Metro star, is seen in the leading role. It is today's feature attraction. A roaring comedy, "A Jungle Gentleman," is also included in the program.

BEAUTIFUL GIRLS

WITH LUXURIOUS, SOFT FLUFFY HAIR

Soon grow from the healthy child who has enjoyed proper parental care.

Care of the young daughter's hair, in this day and age, is very essential to her attractiveness, progress and success in the soon-to-come young womanhood of her life.

Do not destroy her chances in life by hair neglect. Naturally, if there is no antiseptic tone used on the scalp, dandruff germs, which lodge there, will get a start and destroy hair roots and the small glands which supply color to the hair. This condition means a thin growth of fading, falling hair. As a direct result, of this many girls are at a decided disadvantage.

The easiest, cleanest and most satisfactory remedy for guarding against or removing these and other hair troubles is the hair nourishing antiseptic, CRUDOLEUM. It will overcome the dandruff, save the hair and avoid much future expense and trouble and assure for that daughter of yours the asset and blessing that she is justly entitled to, namely, beautiful, healthy hair.

CRUDOLEUM is endorsed by professionals everywhere, and a large bottle is sold at the Connelville Drug Co., and the Broadway Drug Co., Scottdale, for only 55c. Get a bottle today at either drug store; they are authorized to guarantee it to satisfy you. If your druggist does not happen to have CRUDOLEUM in stock, mail us 40c and we will send it to you postpaid. Wm. M. Simpson, Drug Co., Wholesale Druggists, Williamsburg Station, Pittsburg, Pa.—Adv.

EXPULSION DEPLORED

Former Justice Hughes Calls New York Action Near "Calamity."

NEW YORK, April 3.—Charles E. Hughes said today he regarded the expulsion of the Socialists from the New York state assembly as a "serious blow at the standard of true Americanism and nothing short of a calamity."

"Those who make their patriotism a vehicle of intolerance," he continued, "are very dangerous friends of our institutions. I expressed my views upon this question at the outset and I have seen no reason to change them."

Negro Lynched.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2.—George Robertson, a negro, was taken from the city jail at Laurens, S. C., by a mob and hanged to a railroad bridge on the outskirts of the city.

To each man is given a day, and his work for the day; And once, and no more, he is given to travel this way. And, who if he flies from the task, whatever the odds; For the task is appointed to him on the scroll of the gods.

—Edwin Markham.

For those who enjoy kidneys the following dish will prove worth a trial:

Beefsteak and Kidney Pie.—For an ordinary pie use one pound of round steak and four or five lamb's kidneys. Cut the steak into pieces an inch and a half long and wide. Cut the kidneys through the center. Put the kidneys into cold, slightly salted water and allow this to come slowly to the boiling point. As soon as the boiling point is reached, draw off the water, add cold, salted water and boil again. Then drain, rinse well and add the kidneys to the steak.

In the meantime, roll the pieces of steak in seasoned flour, and brown nicely in a frying pan. Cover with water; add a pinch of marjoram, summer savory, and a few grains of nutmeg. Simmer until the meat is tender. Add any further seasoning needed. Thicken the gravy with flour and butter. Pour the meat into a pie dish with gravy enough to cover and then add the pastry top. Serve either hot or cold.

Pastry for Meat Pies.—Cream together one and one-half tablespoons each of lard and butter. Put this into one cupful of flour which has been mixed with one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Add enough cold milk to make the particles stick together. Roll and cover for the edge of the dish. Leave an opening for the steam to escape. Serve from the dish after baking a golden brown.

Lemon Honey.—Cream one cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar and mix until well blended. Beat in two-thirds of a cupful of honey and beat in a double boiler, beating until well blended. Beat four egg yolks until thick, add the remainder of the mixture and stir until the mixture is like thick cream. This will keep if put into covered jelly glasses. Is very nice for cake or sandwich filling.

FOURTH FINANCIALS

School Children of Connelville Are Saving Their Pennies.

Scholarship in the public schools of Connelville are being given an object lesson in thrift that is going to prove very valuable when they reach years of maturity. Regular deposits of a penny or more are made with their teachers and interest bearing savings accounts are opened for the children with the old, reliable First National of Connelville. The children take readily to the saving idea and many of them already have substantial accounts.—Adv.

How Diphtheria is Contracted.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold.
When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.—Adv.

Could Not Stand Straight.

It does not take long, when the kidneys are out of order and not doing their work properly, for poisonous acids to accumulate in the system and cause aches and pains. D. C. Diamond, 2665 W. 30 St., Cleveland, O., writes:
"I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys. My back and sides were so stiff and sore I could not stand straight. I use Foley Kidney Pills with good results and am glad to testify to their 'helping power.' Sold

Yet how foolish it was for any of us to predict what we will be doing or where we will be twenty-four hours from now. Seldom do things happen in the routine of our lives as we had anticipated. I was not there the next day at the time appointed. No possibility could I have been there, however much I might have wished to. Many things had happened in quick succession.

How it came about that my promise to meet Gorman went unfulfilled can best be explained by narrating the events of the evening after I returned to the Granddeck. It was nearly five when I left the detective. I strolled leisurely down town and had dinner in the cafe where on one occasion I had seen the scar-faced man. I lingered there for a long time over my coffee hoping in vain that he might appear. I even ventured to cautiously question the waiter and head waiter, describing the man as best I could, but both of them insisted that they never had seen any such person. As I walked home I kept a wary eye out to make sure I was not being followed but apparently no one was now shadowing me.

It was nine-thirty when I reached home. It had been arranged that Barbara about two would signal me that we might have a chat from our respective windows. As I sat in my room waiting for the time to come, I was reviewing the case in all its aspects. Indeed there was hardly a waking moment that I was not thinking of the many mysteries about us. I was wondering if when the case was cleared up the mysterious whispers that we all had heard would also be explained. I recalled Claire Bradford's unexpected visit to my apartment the evening before and her confusion when I had captured her. I wondered if the explanations she had offered had been the truth. Was she really trying to locate the source of the whispers? I looked interestedly up at the section of the wall that I had found her inspecting. What had she hoped to discover there?

I decided to make a close inspection of both sides of the wall. As I lighted up the sitting room and hall for this purpose, some thing unusual came to my notice that had hitherto escaped me entirely.

THE INNER WALL OF MY ROOM—the one running along the hall of the apartment—HAD THE APPEARANCE OF BEING AT LEAST FOUR FEET THICK.

It seemed so absurd that I refused to believe the evidence my eyes had given me. In these modern days of steel construction there was no reason for a wall being of medieval proportions. I sprang to my great-aunt's work basket and began rummaging to see if I could find a tape measure, and luckily my search was quickly rewarded.

I sketched a rough diagram of the rear rooms, and began measuring them off, carefully checking my figures as I went along. I found myself growing wildly excited as he tape measure confirmed what my eyes already had told me. The inner wall was at least four feet thick.

With thrills at the thought of the possibility of a secret passage there, I climbed up on a chair just as Claire Bradford had done, and began inspecting the wall inch by inch. Even as I did so I could not help laughing at myself. The idea that a modern apartment building might contain a secret passage was utterly ridiculous, yet as I pounded lightly on the wall it gave forth a hollow sound, vastly different from any other part of the room. I was convinced that between my room and the hall there was space enough at least for a passageway in which a man might walk.

I surveyed with growing interest the wooden paneling that in my room ran clear up to the ceiling. In the other rooms there was no paneling. Mounting the chair again I pressed sharply against the wood at the point from which the sound had seemed to come. It seemed to me it gave a little to my touch. I struck one of the sections a sharp blow. It dropped back a full half-inch, leaving what looked like a doorway—a space three feet wide by five feet high. The bottom of the opening was hardly two feet from the floor. If there was a passageway here, this panel certainly would explain how my rooms had been surreptitiously visited.

Feverishly I worked at the panel, trying to push it further back. If there was a passageway there in the wall I was determined to see whether it led. My efforts to move the panel further seemed hopeless. As I worked at it I heard a tapping on my window sill.

It must be Barbara. In my excitement over the find I had forgotten all about the time. I sprang from the chair and rushed to the window. I found her peering out, trying to ascertain why I had not answered her signal.

"Oh," she breathed with relief as my head appeared. "You were there. Did you see the detective?" "Yes," I replied, speaking as low as my excited state would permit me. "But just now I discovered something vastly more important." "What is it?"

"A secret passageway leading into my room. It seems to run along the wall. The wall there is at least four feet thick—room for a man to walk. There is a panel in the wall in my room leading into it. I was just peering through it when you signaled." "Oh, how I wish I could see it!"

"Why can't you? Slip out of your front door, and I'll be at my door to admit you." "I can't do that. Mother and Claire are in the front part of the house playing bridge with some guests. They will be sure to hear me going out." "Come in tomorrow morning, then," I suggested. She did not answer, and before I realized what she was doing, Barbara was cut on the ledge making her perilous way across to my window. "If Claire can do this, I can," she announced triumphantly, as I, trembling all over at the thought of the peril she had been in, put my arms about her and helped her in. "Darling," I cried, still holding her in my arms, "don't ever do that again. It's too dangerous. Promise me, Barbara, dear, you'll never again try that."

With her pretty face flushed at the terms of endorsement that had unwittingly escaped me, she laughingly released herself from my arms.

"That was nothing," she said in a tense whisper. "Where's the panel?"

Reluctant to find that she was not angered by my presumption, I hastened to turn up the light and pointed at the hole in the wall. As I had done, she sprang up on the chair and endeavored to push the panel further back, but was unable to budge it. Quicker witted than I, she then tried sliding it along. At the slightest touch it slid back in a groove, revealing the opening—leading into what? Striking a match, we both of us peered in. The space between the walls was certainly high enough and wide enough for a man to walk there in comfort. So far as the flickering light of the match enabled us to judge, it ran the length of the hall, and near its further end there appeared to be some steps.

"Come," cried the intrepid Barbara, "let's explore it." "No," I said firmly. "We must do nothing until I have seen the detective. We have put the case in his hands."

"But we must find out about it," protested the girl. "Tomorrow," I said. "We know where it is. We know where the voices and whispers come from now." "I wonder," she said thoughtfully, "if there is the same sort of a passageway in our apartment?" "Promise me that if you find there is one, you will not attempt to explore it alone."

As we argued about it we both stopped short and with blanching faces listened. From somewhere—it sounded as if it was right below us—we heard sounds as if two people were struggling. Then came a woman's shriek, a wild scream with the death terror in it. The sound seemed close at hand. It seemed to come right up from the opening in the panel by which we were standing.

Once more there came an awful scream—a scream stopped off short as if some brutal hand had throttled the woman's throat.

"What is it?" cried Barbara. "Listen," I commanded. "It seems to come from the floor below."

Holding our breaths we strained our ears for further sounds. Suddenly a shot rang out, and there was a thud as if a body had fallen to the floor. Then all was silence.

With terror in our faces we turned to each other, seeking an explanation which neither could give.

"Mother—Claire!" cried Barbara. "They'll be alarmed. I must go back to them at once."

I sprang after her but she moved so quickly that she was out of the window and safely home before I could stop her. Only wanting to see her off the ledge I turned back and hastily pulling the panel into place I dashed for the front of the house. The screams and the shot I was sure had come from the apartment directly below mine. I was certain that there had been murder done there and my mind was made up to investigate it at once. If I dared quickly there might be an opportunity to catch the murderer red-handed. I let myself out and dashed down the one flight of stairs. As I arrived there, the ascending elevator stopped, and Mr. Wick burst out, followed by an excited elevator runner. Wick was carrying a revolver in his hand. "Did you hear anything?" he asked excitedly. "I heard a woman screaming in this apartment and then a shot." "I heard it, too. In which apartment was it?" "Right here," I said, pointing to the door. "Miss Lutan's," he said. "Let's go in. Here's my pass-key. You open the door. I'll be right behind you with my revolver."

CHAPTER VIII.

Inserting the key Mr. Wick handed me, I turned it sharply and flung the door wide. It revealed a luxuriously furnished apartment, the front rooms of which were extravagantly ablaze with light.

For a moment the three of us, Mr. Wick, the elevator boy and myself, stood there with our ears alert for any sound from the apartment. While I do not admit to being a coward, the unknown has its terrors for all of us, and I must confess that the knowledge that Mr. Wick had his revolver drawn was indeed comforting. All was silence in the place.

"John," said Wick to the elevator boy, "you stand here right by the door and keep your eye on the elevator. If anybody tries to sneak past you, you holler for us."

"Dead I will, Mr. Wick," said the boy, with chattering teeth. "I'll holler, all right."

"Go ahead, Mr. Nelson," said the superintendent. "I'm right behind you with the revolver."

Without waiting to explore the front rooms, I turned at once and ran down the long hall to the sitting room. If, as I suspected, murder had been done here, I was confident that the scene of the tragedy would be the room directly under mine. The screams I had heard—and the shot—had seemed to come from under my very feet.

Although the lights in the front of the hall were burning, the sitting room was in darkness. As I reached the door, my fingers sought the button, and as the flame of light illuminated the room I looked hastily about me. There was no one there, but my one quick glance showed me that the door of the wall safe, located similarly to the one in the apartment above, was standing wide open.

Quickly I sprang to inspect the room corresponding to mine, a room. It will be recalled, opening off the sitting room. Here, too, was darkness, and as I turned on the lights, I stood aghast with horror.

On the floor, close up to the inner wall, lay the contorted body of a beautiful young woman. Her eyes were wide open and staring. One arm was twisted under her, and the other hand was clutching at the front of her

"She Has Been Murdered," I Grieved; "Get the Police at Once."

"It's Miss Lutan," said Mr. Wick's voice behind me. "She's been murdered," I cried; "get the police at once."

As I bent over her to see if there was any evidence of life, I saw imprinted in her tender white throat the marks of her assailant's brutal fingers. "Come," I said, "help me lift her on to this couch, and then telephone at once for a doctor."

Mr. Wick had been all the while standing there, staring at the body as it lay on the floor. He obeyed my directions, and with him at her feet and I at her head we laid her down on the couch, where I proceeded to loosen her gown and to try by artificial respiration to restore her blood circulation.

"Get the doctor at once," I commanded again, "and phone for the police."

"John," called out Mr. Wick, "go to the phone and tell Miss Kelly to send for Doctor Hunt to come at once." "Tell her to get the police, too," I insisted.

"And let the burglar escape while we're doing it," objected Mr. Wick. "Come on, let's lock through the door."

ment. He may be hiding somewhere still."

Together, while the boy was phoning, we went from room to room, peering into closets and under beds. There was no one there and no traces of the murderer's presence. Even the servants' quarters were unoccupied. Only one thing happened that struck me as peculiar. As I started up the hall to search the bedrooms, I looked back and caught Mr. Wick furtively closing the wall safe. His action in surreptitiously closing this without saying anything to me made me suddenly suspicious of him. I recalled that Detective Gorman had put Mr. Wick into his circle of suspects along with the burglar's wife. Could it be possible that the superintendent of the building himself was in connivance with the band of criminals who had been harassing the Bradfords and me? I determined to watch his every move.

"There's no one here," I said, as we completed our round of the various rooms. "The murderer has made his escape. Haven't that boy phoned for the police yet?"

Mr. Wick seemed so averse to carrying out my suggestion about the police that I think he must have sensed the suspicion in my voice.

"I think I had better ask Mr. Kent about it first," he said nervously. "Who's Mr. Kent?" I demanded.

My thoughts were so taken up with the unexpected tragedy that the name at first meant nothing to me. Suddenly I remembered. It was to the apartment of Mr. Henry Kent that Miss Kelly had phoned last night when she was dining with me. I recalled, too, that Gorman had charged me to find out all I could about him.

"Who's Mr. Kent?" I repeated sharply. "What's he got to do with it?" "He's the owner of the building," explained Mr. Wick. "He doesn't like the Granddeck to be mentioned in the papers. He says any notoriety is bad for its exclusiveness. I don't believe he'd want the police called in. In fact, sir, I'm sure he wouldn't."

"Whether he wants it or not," I said firmly, "it's got to be done. You can't keep murders out of the paper. Either you call the police right away or else I will."

My threat forced him to telephone against his will. I could quite understand his employer's aversion to having a crime in the Granddeck made public. But there was no help for it. There had been a dastardly crime committed, and the police must be informed. Yet it was not to the police that Mr. Wick was telephoning. It evidently was to Mr. Kent's apartment in the building.

"Miss Lutan's been shot by a burglar in her apartment," I heard him say. "Mr. Nelson and me just discovered her body. What's that, sir?"

Just what Mr. Kent's reply as bearing the shocking news had been I had, of course, no means of knowing, but whatever it was, over the superintendent's face came an expression of incredulity and amazement.

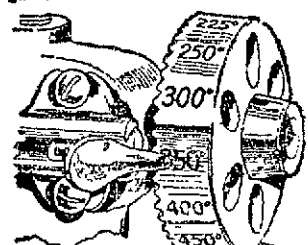

"What do you think," said Mr. Wick, turning to me, "he says for me to call up Headquarters at once." "Of course," I said, "it is the only thing to do."

Nevertheless, as Mr. Wick waited for the number, he kept shaking his head and muttering under his breath something that sounded like: "To think of his telling me to call in the police!"

To sum up the Telephone Rate Situation

THERE are these facts before you! This company has experienced all of the increased costs of furnishing telephone service, and the public is still enjoying the low rates of pre-war days.

A year of even greater importance than any that has gone before is now confronting us—with its heavy requirements for extensions and improvements of the plant and of the service.

The company has no margin on which it can fall back. It has exhausted every possibility of economy, and still finds itself far from making ends meet.

Notable inventions and equipment perfections cannot be brought into play immediately to help the situation. Time and capital are required—much of both.

Adequate rates alone will insure the carrying out of the program for 1920 which will meet the desires and the requirements of the public.

Adequate rates alone will make it possible for us to pay our bills and meet our obligations to the users of the service, to our employees, and to the owners of the property.

These obligations deserve the serious thought of every telephone user.

We are, after all, only your stewards in the furnishing of a great, important public service. That service must grow and must be the best. And adequate rates alone will make this possible.
